Universe Awareness Student Ambassador Programme

Do you want to gain valuable experience in astronomy education and outreach to enhance your career prospects? Would you like to use astronomy to inspire young children, particularly those from local disadvantaged communities?

Universe Awareness is looking for enthusiastic BSc, MSc or PhD students of astronomy, space science, physics, mathematics or social sciences to volunteer for its Student Ambassador programme. Successful applicants will be involved in various activities, such as translating or creating new educational materials and helping to run events for children.
